Fund Manager's Report

The Fund lost 0.27% in USD terms last month. This was below the target absolute return of 0.80% over the one month period. This was below the benchmark by 1.07%. YTD, the Fund has gained 14.49% or 5.36% above the benchmark. Asia Pacific ex-Japan equities were flat in US$ terms in November as investors digest the progress of a limited trade deal between US and China. YTD, Asia Pacific ex-Japan index has risen 9.7%, Australia was the best performing market, benefiting from investors' appetite for high quality dividend yielders while Malaysia was the worst performing market amidst political uncertainty and broad-based slowdown.

We expect economic growth in Asia to bottom in the near future. Several Asian governments are putting in place fiscal stimulus to provide support to their economies. After reducing policy rates throughout the year, most Asian central banks will probably be on hold for the next 6 months except for India and Philippines. Nevertheless, we expect Asian central banks to remain dovish in the absence of inflation. Earnings recovery is likely to be led by Asia internet, semiconductor and industrial stocks. We reiterate our positive view on Asian equities as the markets should be supported by stable earnings forecast, transmission of monetary easing that was recently implemented and fiscal stimulus. Furthermore, the Fed's resumption of balance sheet expansion places a tailwind for fund flows into Asia. Taiwan and India are seeing pickup in foreign fund inflows recently. The Fund has deployed cash into selected countries which are expected to do well in 2020, including China and India where fiscal stimulus could trigger a new cycle of credit growth. The portfolio has been reducing REITs in favour of cyclicals and growth in the financials and technology sectors.

The current key positions include Tencent, AIA HK, Techtronics, TSMC, Samsung Electronics, Alibaba, Seven Group, CSL, HDFC Bank, KDC Reit.
