Fund Manager's Report

The Fund was up 0.93% in MYR terms in Mar, outperforming the benchmark by 20 bps. YTD, the Fund is up 2.64%, outperforming the benchmark by 49 bps.

The MSCI AC Asia Pacific ex Japan Index declined by 0.71% in March in USD terms. The US trade tariffs on 2 April 2025, came in both higher and broader than expected. The optimistic viewpoint is that tariffs are a negotiating tactic and intended to pave the way for the extension of the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act. But the Trump Administration may want to rewire global trade practices which suggests tariffs are here to stay. There is no policy clarity on whether an off-ramp exists to de-escalate trade tensions. The impact on global growth is hard to dismiss. The sell-off in equity markets has somewhat priced in a slowdown. The downside risk to global growth stems from consumer and business uncertainty, and the impact on inflation expectations. President Trump's tariffs could also lead to a temporary increase in US inflation. There are emerging signs of strain on US consumer spending and question marks around whether the Fed will cut rates if the economy weakens while inflation stays sticky. At the time of writing, China will face cumulative tariffs exceeding 50% and hence the impact on GDP growth can be material. Preliminary estimates from some economists place the GDP impact at 0.5% to 1.0% which means GDP growth could be revised from about 4.5% to say about 3.5 to 4.0%. The tariffs will probably push Beijing to implement stimulative policies on both the fiscal and monetary front to blunt this. The Asian region is in the spotlight because of the trade surplus with US. Each individual country will now need to negotiate with the US on a trade deal. But it will be hard for developing Asia to significantly reduce the trade surplus as the US may not be a producer of their main imports or it may be selling higher value items that the Asian countries cannot afford to buy. Hence diversification is key and our preference is to balance between "growth" and "value". We are invested in value and high dividend yielders across telecoms, consumer staples, materials, real estate and financials, while also invested in companies with more visible growth in technology, healthcare, industrials and internet platforms.
