Fund Manager's Report

The Fund was down 2.99% in SGD terms in Jul, underperforming the benchmark by 364 bps. YTD, the Fund is up 11.38%, outperforming the benchmark by 680 bps.

The MSCI AC Asia Pacific ex Japan Index was almost flat in July in USD terms. The June CPI reading in the US was encouraging which marks a step in the right direction and pave the way for a potential rate cut in September. On a 3-month annualized basis, core CPI is now 2.1% which is near the Fed's target. Amid jittery over recession risk in the US post nonfarm payrolls report, we retain our view that US economy will have a soft landing. In China, GDP growth slowed to 4.7%YoY in 2Q24 on the back of weak consumption, and is below the government's target of 5%. The 3rd Plenary Session ended with largely no change in policy stance, as expected. Caixin Manufacturing PMI fell below 50 in July and inflation is very subdued at 0.2%. PBoC unexpectedly cut its key policy rate by 10bps to 1.7%. The Chinese government has to do more in terms of policy to hit the 5% GDP growth target. As we are heading into US election season, volatility is to be expected for the Asian markets as proposals about US trade with China would be very contentious. Nevertheless we believe that long term fundamentals and earnings growth would be the primary drivers of stock returns. In Asia, growth drivers include increasing demand for more advanced chips due to A.I., recovery in the semiconductor industry, India's strong economic growth and capex cycle. Current market correction is likely to present investment opportunities as valuations become more attractive. We will continue to diversify and position the portfolio in the identified growth drivers. We will also be selective in our investments in China, especially for those companies who have shown signs of turnaround or have high dividend yields. Other risks would be (1) US economy hard landing, (2) continued weak business and consumer sentiment in China, (3) rising geopolitical risks.
