Fund Manager's Report

The Fund rose 2.35% during the month, outperforming the benchmark by 1.95%.

In March 2025, the Chinese market showed positive momentum, with the MSCI China Index gaining 2.0% in USD terms. This growth was driven by strong investor optimism, bolstered by advancements in generative AI and continued government stimulus measures. Sentiment towards China's markets is likely to trend structurally better led by the technological breakthroughs from DeepSeek and the government's positive tone towards the private sector. China's manufacturing sector also saw a modest recovery, with a rise in new orders and stronger demand. This was supported by government policies aimed at boosting economic activity and investor confidence.

Overall, the Chinese market's performance in March 2025 reflects a combination of technological progress and strategic economic support, contributing to a favorable investment environment. Valuations for Chinese stocks remain reasonable, despite the recent rally. Demand-supply dynamics in the market have also improved.
